Avian Flu

SOUND

Avian Influenza is an infectious disease of birds caused by type A strains of the influenza (flu) virus

Ducks chickens and turkeys are most at risk for catching Avian Influenza. Avian Influenza is similar to Human Influenza and can be passed to humans when they come into contact with droppings from a sick bird. There have been isolated cases in North America. Below are links to excellent sites that provide information on Avian Influenza. If you are travelling to Asia please stop by the Health Unit before your trip.
